First Practice Game Will Be Staged With Collegians Saturday.

TAMPA. Fla., Mar. 4.
With Acosta, fresh from a season of winter ball in Havana, trying to curve them over on his first day out, Griff decided it was time to get busy with some games. A telephone call to Southern College finally lined up a scrap for Saturday, March 12, and the Methodists will come here, borrow a battery, and start-the struggle.

The little Cuban started out too brinkly for Boss McBride and drew a calm reminder that it was training time. Al Schacht is getting so far along that Mac refused to let him work longer than a half hour before he returned him to the showers. For the first time in more than a year he is cutting them into the rubber from straight overhead, and the wing looks steadier than ever. Griff watched Al and was pleased.

"That boy will make 'em all watch the smoke this season," he said. he told Al to take the next week.

Griff, who spent his second morning with the boys today, conferred with Noeride while Foss was fielding some bunts. They didn't think he could get 'em away like he does, and when Brower crossed him on Griff's signal and tapped one—not a mile a minute, but just a little hand

Eschman is another promising youngster who probably will be given a chance with some friend of Griff's and picked up again next season. Marpicked up again next season. Mar-hafka is showing more pep than was anticipated and is covering a weeth of ground about the midway. Lorge Mogridge hit camp to-nisht and will get a tussle with strashine and showers tomorrow morning. The former Yank de-clares he's been keeping close at home around Rochester and watching the old pay wing carefully.

Frank Brower's touch of tonsil ache that ruined his supper last night had disappeared this morning after Mike finished with the slugger and he worked at first base all morning except when taking a all morning, except when taking a short turn on the mound. He'll be McBride's choice for the hassock if Judge doesn't come through. if Judge doesn't come through.

Griff is going to give the home fans a chance to look over the rookies ahead of time. Saturday night, March 27, he will send home a full dozen of the boys, in charge of either Nick or one of the vets who may be in need of a rest. The remainder, probably the regular bunch with Foss, Lamotte, Shanks, Brower and Miller, and all pitchers, will make the training trip tour.

Harry Hooper, Boston Veteran,

BOSTON, March 4.—Harry Hooper, star right fielder of the Boston Red Sox for the past ten years, has been traded to the Chicago White Sox for outfielders John Collins and Nemo Leiboid. This was made known today by Manager Hugh Duffy of the local club. Hooper had declined to sign the contract tendered him by the Red Sox management, which, it is understood, calls for a salary of $3,000. Hooper demanded, it is said, $15,000 for this season's work. The trade will go through as far as the Boston club is concerned by the simple assumption of the White Sox contracts with the two players mentioned, but it is up to the Chicago club management to induce Hooper to sign it was stated. go club management to induce Hooper to sign, it was stated. Joe Judge's holdout days appear to be fast drawing to an end Following the ultimatum of President Griffith which gives him the choice of reporting along about the Ides of March or spending the ummer in idleness at a net cost of something like $7,000 it is not hard o guess what the balky first sacker will do. If he doesn't check in at Tampa Bay Hotel on the thirteenth of the month it will be a surprise to all interested parties.

As long as New York was showing an active desire to sign him, Joe had some encouragement in his stand, though the doughty Griff remarked from the first that neither the Yanks or anybody else would land his infield star. But Miller Huggins has suddenly ceased to take Goes to Chicago an interest, and Joe is left right out on the end of the limb with nothing in the nature of a feather bed beneath.

tion of a President at Washington was overshadowed out at White Sox headquarters by preparations for sending away the first squad of players for spring practice and the announcement that the Hose had secured Harry Hooper, one of the greatest outfielders in the game, from the Boston Red Sox. In return for Hooper, the White Sox released the veteran John Collins and Harry Leibold. No money was involved in the deal.

The acquisition of Hooper fills a big gap in the Sox outfield left by the dismissal of Joe Jackson and Happy Felgch. Hooper resides in Uba City, California, and has been directed to proceed directly to Waxahachle, Tex., where the Sox will train. Last year he was captain of the Red Sox. He is a sure hitter, heady, fast and ail-round ideal ball player.

South Side fans will miss John Collins, who is the oldest member of the Sox in point of service. Collins welcomes the trade, as it brings him nearer his home and old friends in Pittsfield, Mass.
